YOUR VOTE IS YOUR VOICE
ALLEGHENY COUNTY VOTING GUIDE

Presented by the 2020-2021 Bar Leadership Initiative Class
Allegheny County Bar Association
Young Lawyers Division
Your vote may be your voice, but who can be expected to use it wisely when election season means an overwhelming flurry of candidate names, offices you've never heard of, and boundaries you don't know if you live in?

The Bar Leadership Initiative Class of 2020-2021 invites Allegheny County residents to use this Voting Guide to help cut through the noise and make a more informed vote.

How to Use this Document

It's easy! Simply scroll to the list of municipalities, find the one you live in, click it, and you will see every office you vote for at the federal, state, county, judicial, and municipal levels. You can also see how long their terms are, how frequently you vote for their positions, and when the next election will occur!

Not sure what an auditor or controller does? Click the Glossary button on the federal ballot to read up on the positions and some other helpful terminology.

Also, check out our guide on General Voter Information to learn about eligibility, registering to vote, polling places, and loads of other info to help you be a well-informed voter!
The Bar Leadership Initiative (BLI) was developed in September 2001 as a collaboration between the Young Lawyers Division of the Allegheny County Bar Association (YLD) and the Allegheny County Bar Association (ACBA) at large. The program is designed to encourage young lawyers to engage with their local colleagues, to hone their community leadership skills, and to train a new generation of leaders that will hopefully rise through the ranks of the ACBA.

As one of the central tenets of the BLI program is to harness this group of young attorneys' passion for community growth and participation, every year the BLI cohort designs, carries out, and completes a class project. The Class of 2020-2021 chose to tackle an issue that was both topical and lent itself well to the remote collaboration COVID-19 required: a compendium of accessible information for voters.

Federal

➢ President: The “leader” of the United States. The President signs laws proposed by Congress (bills) into active laws that govern our nation, rejects proposed laws by “vetoing” them, leads the armed forces as Commander-in-Chief, appoints judges and officers of the United States, makes treaties, and pardons people convicted of federal crimes, among many other things.

➢ Vice President: The Vice President is elected only if the President with whom he or she is running is elected. We do not separately elect the Vice President. The Vice President is Second in Command, meaning he or she is the first person to become acting President if the elected President becomes incapacitated, dies, resigns, or is removed from office.

➢ Representative in Congress: Working with the Senate, the House of Representatives’ primary role is writing proposed Federal laws (bills) that it presents to the President for signature (or veto) after the bill is approved by both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Representatives in Congress also have many other powers and responsibilities.

➢ Senator in Congress: Working with the House of Representatives, the Senate’s primary role is writing proposed Federal laws (bills) that it presents to the President for signature (or veto) after the bill is approved by both the Senate and the House of Representatives. The Senate also has special powers to approve (confirm) the people the President appoints as officers and judges, in addition to other powers and responsibilities.

State

➢ Governor: Like the President, the Governor is the “leader” of Pennsylvania. The Governor has many similar powers and responsibilities as the President, but the Governor’s powers and responsibilities apply only to Pennsylvania.

➢ Lieutenant Governor: Like the Vice President, the Lieutenant Governor is Second in Command behind the Governor. In Pennsylvania, each political party chooses a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the Primary Election. Whoever wins for each party in the Primaries is elected to the job only if that party’s candidate for Governor wins in the General Election (like the Vice President).

➢ State Representative: Working with the State Senate, the State House of Representatives’ primary role is writing proposed State laws (bills) that it presents to the Governor for signature (or veto) after the bill is approved by both the State House of Representatives and the State Senate. State Representatives have many other powers and responsibilities.
➢ State Senator: Working with the State House of Representatives, the State Senate’s primary role is writing proposed State laws (bills) that it presents to the Governor for signature (or veto) after the bill is approved by both the State Senate and the State House of Representatives. State Senators have many other powers and responsibilities.

  * In Pennsylvania, the State Senate and the House of Representatives together are called the “General Assembly.”

➢ State Treasurer: The Office of the Treasury and the State Treasurer are the custodians of Pennsylvania’s funds and are responsible for receiving, depositing, and accounting for any official Commonwealth money. The State Treasurer oversees all withdrawals from state agencies and is in charge of investing some of these funds in order to grow Commonwealth revenue.

➢ Auditor General: The Auditor General is responsible for making sure that all Commonwealth money is spent legally and properly. The Auditor General examines whether various government programs and activities are achieving their stated goals and objectives, whether tax dollars are being spent efficiently and effectively, and also makes sure that any publicly accessible financial information about the Commonwealth is accurate.

➢ Attorney General: The Attorney General is the attorney for all Pennsylvania residents and oversees four divisions and hundreds of attorneys – basically the commonwealth’s law firm. The Attorney General makes sure that non-profits are operating legally, prosecutes organized crimes and public corruption, represents the Commonwealth when sued, and administers consumer protection laws.

County

➢ County Executive: Like the President and the Governor, the County Executive is the “leader” of Allegheny County. The County Executive’s powers and responsibilities are similar to those of the Governor’s, but the County Executive’s work applies only to Allegheny County.

➢ County Council: Like Federal and State Senators and Representatives, County Council is the legislative body of Allegheny County. Among many other powers and responsibilities, Councilmembers work on ordinances, resolutions, and motions that Council approves then brings to the County Executive to either sign or veto.

➢ Treasurer: The primary responsibility of the County Treasurer is to receive, invest, disburse, and safeguard the monies of the County. The “monies” include things like taxes and licensing fees (such as for hunting licenses).
Controller: The Controller runs the Controller’s Office, which consists of the Accounting, Audit, Management Systems, and Administration divisions.

- The Accounting Division handles the financial affairs of the County by managing the County’s payroll, keeping the County’s financial statements, and disbursing funds of the County in accordance with the County’s budget and other requirements.
- The Auditing Division makes sure the County is using its money honestly and efficiently by carefully reviewing all the County government’s financial activities.
- The Management Systems Division is responsible for maintaining the software the County uses to manage its money.
- The Administration Division responds to the needs and concerns of Allegheny County residents, taxpayers, and vendors.

Sheriff: The County Sheriff is a top law enforcement officer in Allegheny County. The Sheriff oversees the Sheriff’s Office, which is divided into three Divisions: Civil, Courts, and Investigations. The Sheriff and the Office’s officers have the power to arrest people in their jurisdiction.

- The Civil Division handles Civil Process (what people get served with when they are sued), Evidence, Firearms, Real estate, transportation, warrants, and writs (a demand that someone appear in court).
- The Courts Division handles Civil Court, Criminal Court, Family Court, Juvenile Court, Municipal Court, Orphans’ Court, and the Prisoner Hospital Watch.
- The Investigations Division has two criminal fugitive squads, a “non-support” fugitive squad (going after people who fail to pay child/spousal support), uniformed deputies (cops on the street), and a housing warrants squad.
- The Sheriff’s Office also has 9 deputies who work with Federal and local task forces, such as the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms & Explosive and the County District Attorney’s Office.

District Attorney: The County District Attorney is the top prosecutor in the County. The “DA” represents the County in criminal cases brought against criminal defendants. The County District Attorney’s Office has over 100 lawyers, as well as detectives, crime scene analysts, and support staff.

Judicial

State Supreme Court: The Pennsylvania Supreme Court is the highest Court in Pennsylvania. With a few exceptions (including death penalty appeals), it gets to choose which cases it will review. When the Pennsylvania Supreme Court reviews a case, it acts in a similar way as the Superior Court by determining whether the lower court(s) used the law correctly in deciding whether a party is guilty/not guilty (in criminal cases), liable/not liable (in civil cases), or infringed on a right (in Constitutional cases).

State Superior Court: The Superior Court is one of the two “intermediate appellate” courts in Pennsylvania (the other being the Commonwealth Court). This means that at least one of the parties in the trial court “appealed” the verdict because the party did not think it was correct, and now the Superior Court must review the case. As an “appellate” court, the Superior Court does not look at the credibility of the facts, evidence, or parties, which happens in the trial court. Instead, the Superior Court determines whether the trial court used the law correctly in coming to its conclusion about whether or not a party is guilty/not guilty (in criminal cases), liable/not liable (in civil cases), or infringed on a right (in Constitutional cases).

➢ Commonwealth Court: This is the Court used when Pennsylvania either files a lawsuit or when Pennsylvania is a defendant in a lawsuit. It also acts as one of the two “intermediate appellate” courts in Pennsylvania (the other being the Superior Court). This means that it can also interpret the state and local laws that are used in trial courts to determine whether or not a party is guilty/not guilty (in criminal cases), liable/not liable (in civil cases), or infringed on a right (in Constitutional cases).

➢ Court of Common Pleas: The Court of Common Pleas is the trial court for major civil and criminal trials. This is where the parties to the case present their facts and evidence. Lawyers make their arguments that the relevant law, as it is applied to the facts and evidence they are presenting to the Court, operate in favor of their clients. This is where a judge/jury looks at the credibility of the parties and decides if a party is either guilty/not guilty (in criminal cases), liable/not liable (in civil cases), or infringed on a right (in State Constitutional cases).

➢ Magisterial District Court: These are considered “minor” courts. They are presided over by Magisterial District Judges (MDJs) and Municipal Court Judges (MCJs). MDJs and MCJs are the only judges that are not required to be lawyers, but they must pass a qualifying exam. Magisterial District Courts deal with smaller scale matters, such as evictions, non-traffic “summary” offenses (the most minor offenses), ordinance violations (like noise ordinances), preliminary hearings, and other similar matters and issues.

Municipal

➢ Mayor: A Mayor has the duty of preserving order in a borough, enforcing ordinances and regulations, and performing any other duties that the Mayor is required to perform by law. The Mayor directs how the borough deals with emergencies, such as by setting curfews and requesting aid and assistance from law enforcement. Additionally, a Mayor signs contracts and other obligations, collects costs and fees received to pay money into the treasury, and reports to the council on the state of the borough. The Mayor also makes recommendations to the council on matters of local concern, but does not create laws.

➢ Commissioners/Council/Supervisors: Whether a township, city, borough, or home rule municipality, these bodies are the policymakers. These bodies enact, repeal, revise and amend ordinances and resolutions, bylaws, and rules and regulations, and provide for their enforcement.

➢ Tax Collector: The Tax Collector collects municipal and school real estate taxes and personal local taxes (which are not local earned income taxes). The municipal Tax Collector also collects county real estate and personal taxes.

➢ Auditor: Like the Auditor General at the State level, municipal Auditors check, adjust, and settle the accounts of the tax collector, the magisterial district judge, and the officers of the municipalities. They ensure that all the money collected in the municipality is handled legally and properly.

- Controller: A municipal Controller manages the financial affairs of the municipality. The Controller's duties often overlap with the duties of a municipal Auditor. The Controller supervises and controls the accounts of all the departments, bureaus and officers that receive and disburse the “monies” of the public. If the Controller finds any discrepancies, he or she reports it to the policymaking body (Council or Board of Commissioners/Supervisors).

- Constable: One of the best-known functions of a Constable is to serve people with court documents (such as summonses, complaints, and subpoenas). The Constable also serves warrants of arrest, transports prisoners, enforces protection from abuse orders and eviction orders, and maintain order at election polls. As a sworn law enforcement officer, the Constable can arrest people for felony crimes and for breaches of the peace committed in his or her presence.

- School Director: School Directors make the policy in their School Districts. They hire the Superintendent, adopt the School District’s budget, and make many decisions that affect the School District.

Miscellaneous Terms

- Appointed: An “appointed” official is one who is hired by an elected official, rather than voted on by the public.

- At-Large: To be elected “at-large” means that everyone in a municipality or county gets to vote for that candidate. In most cases, people can only vote for the political candidates who represent and are running in their “ward” or “district” (which is based on your home address). If someone is running “at-large,” it means the candidate’s voters are not restricted by ward or district boundaries.

- District/Ward: These are the geographic areas that are separately represented by officials elected from specific districts and wards. Think of Pennsylvania as a “district” within the United States.

- Borough: A municipality that is governed by the Pennsylvania “Borough Code” (8 Pa. C.S. § 101, et seq).

- City of the Second Class: A municipality that is governed by the “Second Class City Law” (Act 14 of 1901). Pittsburgh is the only City of the Second Class

- City of the Third Class: A municipality that is governed by the “Third Class City Code” (Act 317 of 1931). All cities in Pennsylvania except Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton are Cities of the Third Class.

- Township of the First Class: A municipality that is governed by “The First Class Township Code” of Pennsylvania (Act 331 of 1931).
➢ Township of the Second Class: A municipality that is governed by “The Second Class Township Code” of Pennsylvania (Act 69 of 1933).

➢ Home Rule Charter: Municipalities that choose to be governed by a Home Rule Charter do not follow any of the Codes listed above, although their names may still say “Borough,” “Township,” or “City.” A non-Home Rule local government is only allowed to act where state law says it is allowed to act. A Home Rule local government is allowed to act anywhere except where state law says it cannot act. The residents of a municipality vote to either adopt a Home Rule Charter or retain its classification as a Borough, Township, or City.

➢ Jurisdiction: The actions of elected officials can only affect areas within their “jurisdiction.” Jurisdiction is partly geographic, but also partly based on the “body of law” it covers. Federal politicians have power over federal laws. State politicians have power over state laws. County politicians have power over County laws (ordinances, resolutions, and motions).

➢ Veto: The power and authority to unilaterally stop or reject a proposed course of action, especially legislative proposals presented by a law-making body. This power can be seen exercised in almost all levels of government, both state and federal, and roles with different titles may have veto authority.
